How this workbook works

Grammar is the frame of a language. Once you understand the rules, you can build your own sentences instead of memorising phrases. This workbook walks you through the essential grammar of Russian step by step.

Every lesson has four parts: the rule, the structure at a glance, examples with translation and a tip. Then come five exercises. The answers are at the end of the workbook.

The chapters follow the levels of the Common European Framework: A1, A2 and B1. At the end of a level you have worked through its grammar once completely.

With the GrammarFirst app you can practise every lesson interactively too, with audio, spaced review and Mila the marmot.

1 Greetings

Russian distinguishes between informal and formal 'you'. 'Привет' is casual, 'Здравствуйте' polite.

> Привет (privét) · Здравствуйте (zdrávstvujte) · Спасибо (spasíbo) · Пожалуйста (pozhálujsta)

Situation	Hello	Goodbye
formal	Здравствуйте	До свидания
casual	Привет	Пока
morning	Доброе утро	Хорошего дня
evening	Добрый вечер	Спокойной ночи

Привет! Как дела?	Hi! How are you? (privét, kak delá)
Здравствуйте!	Good day! (polite)
Спасибо, хорошо.	Thanks, fine. (spasíbo, khoroshó)

Tip 'Пожалуйста' means please and also you're welcome.

More Здравствуйте is polite and used for several people, Привет is casual among friends. The first в in здравствуйте is silent: [zdrástvujte]. Пожалуйста means 'please' and also 'you're welcome'. Saying goodbye: До свидания (formal), Пока (casual).

2 No 'to be' in the present

In the present tense 'to be' is simply left out. 'Это' means 'this is / these are'.

> Я студент. = I am a student. · Это мой дом. = This is my house.

Russian	Meaning
Я студент.	I am a student.
Ты дома?	Are you at home?
Это моя мама.	This is my mother.
Он в офисе.	He is in the office.
Где метро?	Where is the metro?

Я врач.	I am a doctor. (ya vrach)
Она дома.	She is at home. (oná dóma)
Это Анна.	This is Anna. (éto Ánna)

Tip Russian has no articles: 'Это книга' can mean 'a book' or 'the book'.

More In the present tense 'to be' is dropped: Я врач (I am a doctor). In writing a dash stands between two nouns: Москва — столица России. There are no articles: дом means 'house', 'a house' or 'the house'. In the past and future you need быть: Я был врачом.

3 Three genders

You can usually tell the gender by the ending: consonant masculine, -а/-я feminine, -о/-е neuter.

> он: дом, стол · она: мама, книга · оно: окно, море

Gender	Ending	Example	he / she / it
masculine	consonant, -й, -ь	дом, музей, день	он
feminine	-а, -я, -ь	мама, неделя, ночь	она
neuter	-о, -е, -мя	окно, море, время	оно

дом	house (m)
книга	book (f)
окно	window (n)

Tip Watch out: папа (dad) ends in -a but is masculine.

More You can almost always tell the gender by the ending: consonant = masculine, -а/-я = feminine, -о/-е = neuter. With -ь (soft sign) you have to learn it: день (m), ночь (f). Male people in -a stay masculine: папа, дедушка. Gender decides adjective and past-tense endings.
